Foreword

The experiences of a school year form a brilliant pattern in our minds. This colorful mosaic, composed of Spiritual emphasis on daily activities, exciting sports and special events, is mirrored in the pages of this annual. We, the Excelsior Staff, feel that in the years to come, you will page through this book and reflect on these memories; and the times of reflections will vividly recall to mind the shining days of student life at L.C.H.S.

Dedication

As a tribute to your faithful service in instruction and guidance, we, the Annual Staff, dedicate this 1962 edition of the Excelsior to you, Mr. Ben Boxum.

For four years you have proved to be invaluable in the educational system of our high school, as a teacher and presently as the Superintendent.

With your strong Christian leadership you have combined kindness, thoughtfulness and sincerity. We have realized your desire to do justice to all students and your earnest desire to be an effective witness for God.

May God richly bless you in your further work in our Christian Schools.

Graduating Class of 1962,

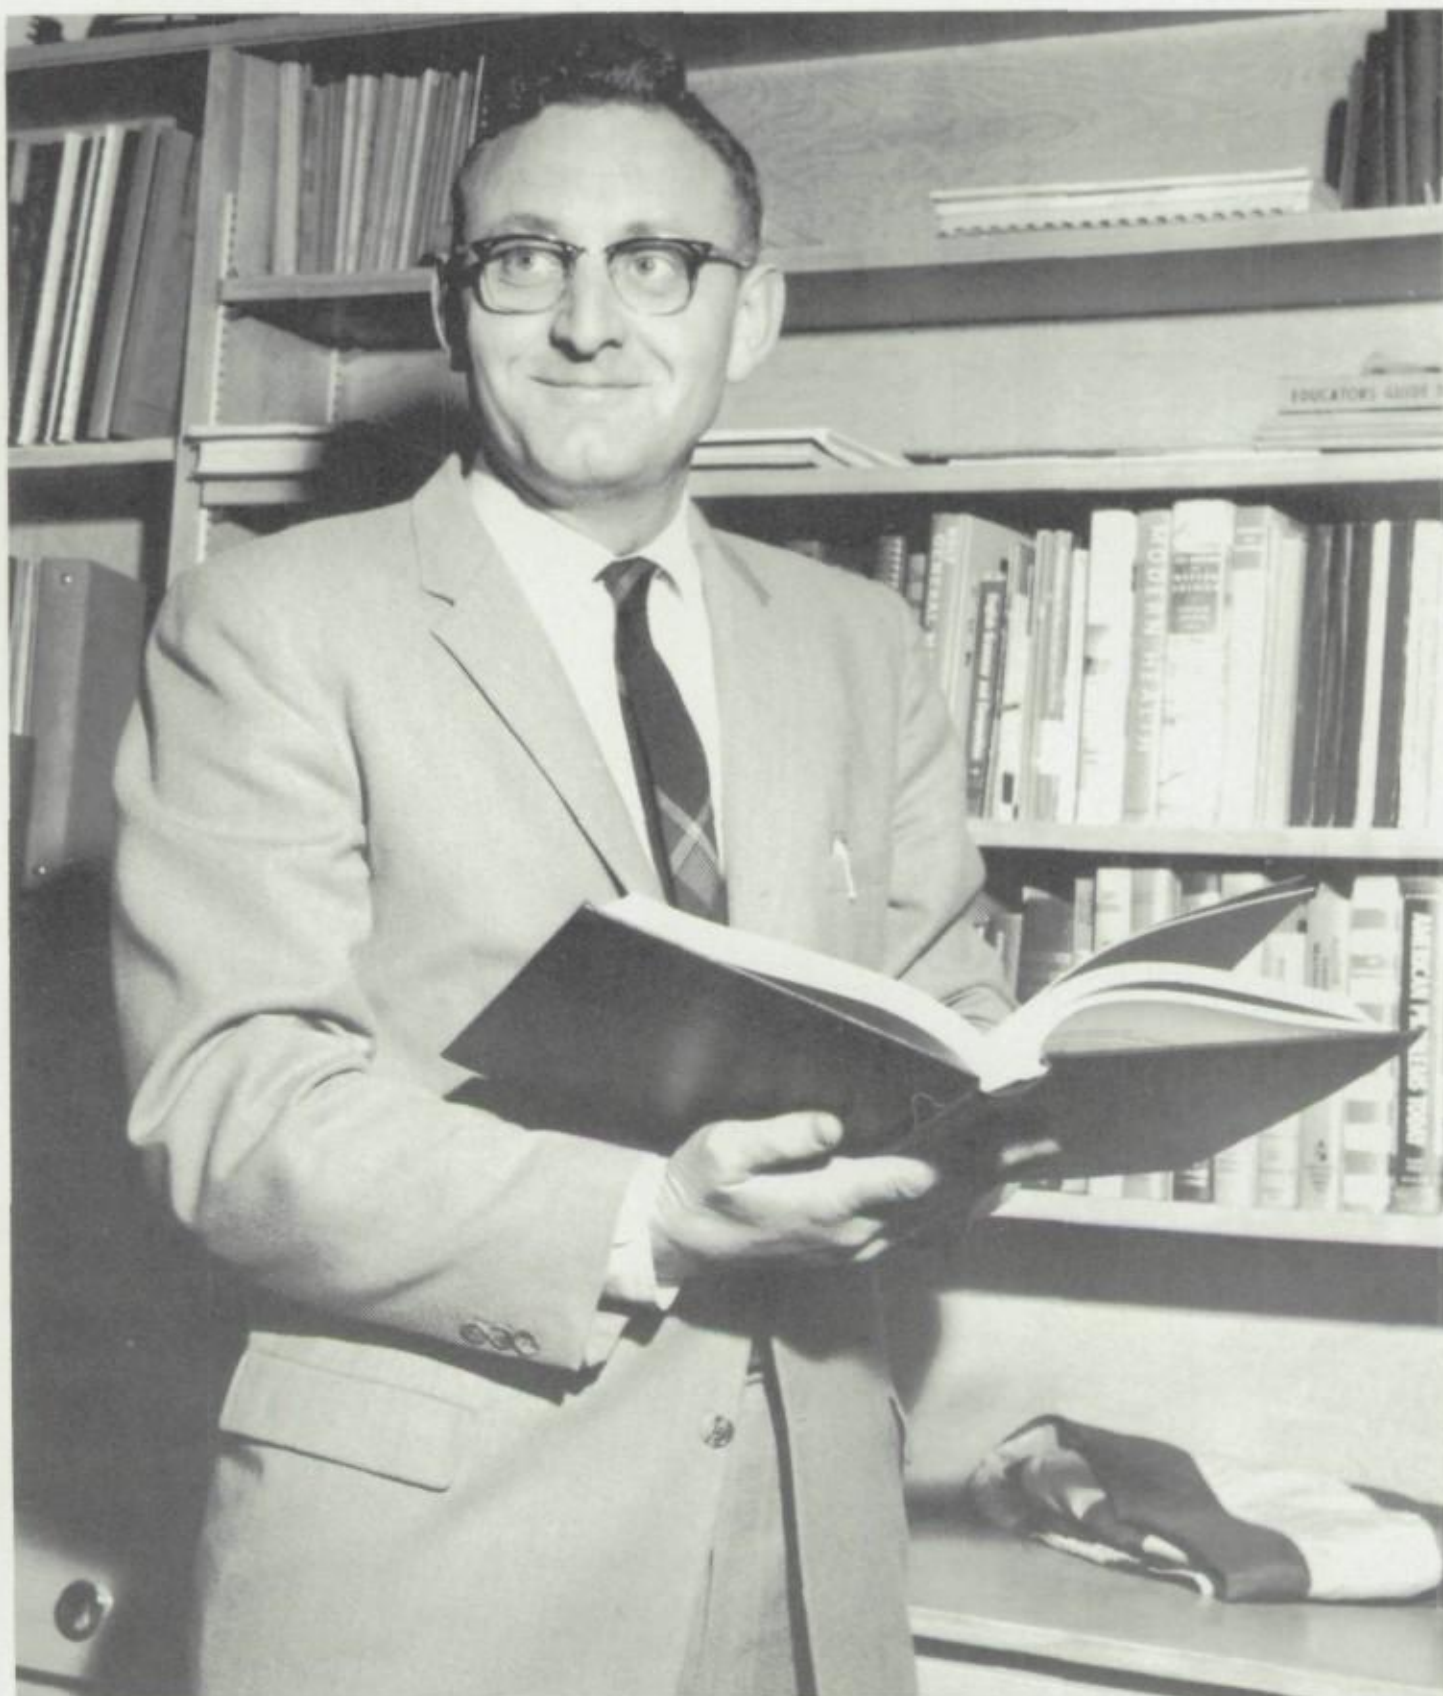

This is a challenging age in which we are living. Man, by the Grace of God, has achieved the goal of placing an astronaut in orbit around the earth. Science has taken the foreground in Education and in today's thinking. However, we must also, at this time of Graduation, "reflect" on the past. You have completed your work at Lynden Christian, and as you further pursue your education, or your life's work, will you, in another sense, "reflect" to others your Christian training?

This is also an age of challenge for the Christian, to be sure, as you go forth from here. Basic to this challenge is your obligation of "reflecting" the image of your Creator to those with whom you come in contact.

Congratulations, and may God richly bless you in the future.

Superintendent

To the GRADUATING CLASS OF 1962

That means you, Mr. and Miss Senior! Yet by the time your eyes scan this page, you shall no longer be a senior, but a graduate.

Things are never quite the same after you graduate. You will return to school functions and events, but it will be different. Once you have taken the long walk down the aisle, extended the left hand for the diploma, the right hand for the congratulatory hand shake, transferred the tassel of your cap from the left side to the right, it will never be quite the same again.

Then you will want to take this fine "Excelsior" and pause for Reflections. What a well chosen theme. School annuals are made for just that reason. Years from now, you will pull this book from the shelf and "Reflect". It would be interesting to know what visions this reflection will conjure. No doubt there will be a mixture of emotions, some hilarious, some sober, some sad.

Actually you are one living page of all the annuals that ever were or shall be produced at Lynden Christian. You will reflect in some way, the teaching and admonition you have received here. You may go on from this point in your life to the highest peak of human success, but you will reflect to others your earlier training. You may stop learning when you leave these halls, and that will really be deterioration in a sense, and you will be reflecting an attitude of "I know everything that's worth knowing." You may openly rebel against what you have learned here, and attempt to rid it from your mind, or even grow bitter against it, then you will be reflecting the picture of one who seeing, saw not, and hearing, heard not. In any case, you are a living page reflecting your attitude toward and your response to the teaching you have received at Lynden Christian.

God enjoins us to reflect when he says: "Be Still, And Know That I Am God". If you know that, really know that, and pattern your life accordingly, the reflection you cast will be a beautiful one, because you will be a reflection of the Perfect Original.

God grant that you may reflect with joy through the medium of this annual; that you may reflect with eager anticipation and calmness of spirit in the perennial Word God has given; that you may cast a God honoring reflection upon those who view you as a living page from the annual your associates will see in you.

Blessed and happy reflections to each of you!

Yours in Christ,

Ben H. Boxum

Student Council

OFFICERS: Janet Boxum, Treasurer; Duane Proppe, Vice-President; Jerry Terpsma, President; Norma De Vries, Secretary.

The 1961-62 Lynden Christian High School Student Council wishes to thank the teachers and students of LCHS for their cooperation and school spirit in making this year a very successful one.

The school mixer began the activities of the year. Student body cards were sold and a thrilling basketball season was financed.

Improvements to the gym were continued, tumbling mats were added to the PE department, and intramurals were held.

Spring sports included baseball, track and tennis.

The awards assembly and the election of new ASB officers concluded the council's activities.

As we reflect over the year's activities it is very obvious that the Lord has been good to us. May each of us pray and work for the further advancement of God's kingdom — especially Christian education and Lynden Christian School.

Thank you all.

Mission Club

In a Christian educational program, consideration must be given to spiritual enrichment. Under the direction of Rev. Reinsma, the members are made aware of the need for Christian service as well as mission activity. The Club distributed twenty-four baskets of food to the indigent families in the County at Thanksgiving, and returned to these homes at Christmas with Bibles and gifts.

Girls who apply for office work during their study halls are chosen on the basis of their school record, class schedule, and personal capabilities. They record the daily attendance, operate the switchboard, and perform errands for the faculty and staff.

"Scio", a Latin word meaning "I know", is the official name of the Science Club Organization. It is composed of students enthusiastic for the advancement of scientific knowledge in a secondary school. Projects are chosen for the duration of the school term by each member, and periodic meetings, under the supervision of L. Stegink, are held to discuss the developments and results of the separate projects.

This season has been an especially exciting and rewarding one, packed with many thrills and tense moments. Despite a definite height disadvantage, the LYNCS battled to a third-place tie in league action and in a play-off captured a district tournament berth, the first in LCHS history. Winning two and losing two at district, the determined LYNCS came within one victory of earning a spot in the state tournament. In compiling a 16-9 won-lost mark, the LYNCS certainly proved they were one of the best teams in our basketball history.

. . . snowy weather was a hindrance to departure preparations for the Music Tour to Seattle . . .

. . . six of the Madrigals posed after receiving a superior rating . . .

. . . students found various activities to occupy themselves on the bus . . .

. . . Ivan made last minute preparations with Mr. and Mrs. Klanderman .

... the Seniors went to Orcas Island for their Skip Day and had a delightful time on the ferry ...

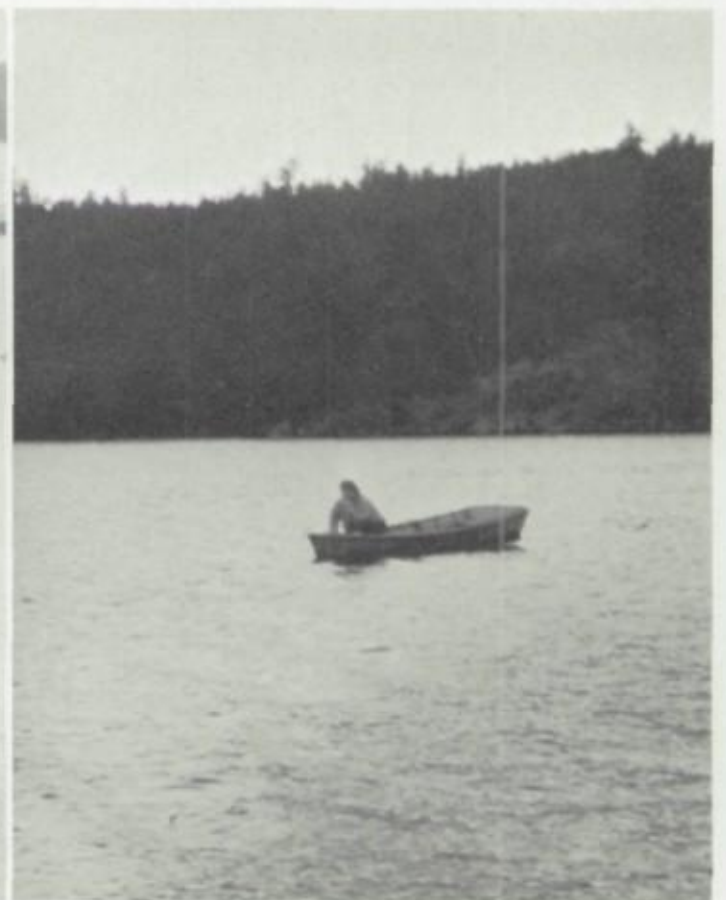

... daring boys "attempted" to throw Norma overboard ...

... all were amused and concerned ...

... about their stranded sponsor, Miss Haverhals .

"For Thanksgiving you'll come to my house, Mr. Asano."

"... they squat and they jump like crazy people and give each other a smash."

A Majority of One

"Essie, you'll have your hands full with a diet."

"As a matter of fact, why don't you get in the game."

"My personal feelings are not pertinent, Mrs. Jacoby."

"Choto Kutsuo!"

The evening was climaxed when Mr. Boxum announced that LCHS had again been awarded the Whatcom County Sportsmanship Trophy.

Marilyn favored the guests with a humorous telephone monologue.

Pep Club Banquet

The theme, "Moments to Remember", was portrayed by different scenes of the basketball season.

Mr. Meeter, master of ceremonies, kept the guests entertained throughout the evening.

Mr. Timmer presented the Player of the Year Award to both Ken and John.

Ken was presented the Darigold Sportsmanship Trophy by Howard Shumway and Haines Fay.

A sunken ship added to the setting of the theme, "Ocean of Life."

Gerry gave a hearty welcome to the evening guests.

With his humor, Stan proved to be a capable master of ceremonies.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet

Seniors, Juniors and Faculty enjoyed the evening beneath the sea, the delicious food and pleasant entertainment.

The evening guests were served punch by four of the Sophomore sailors.

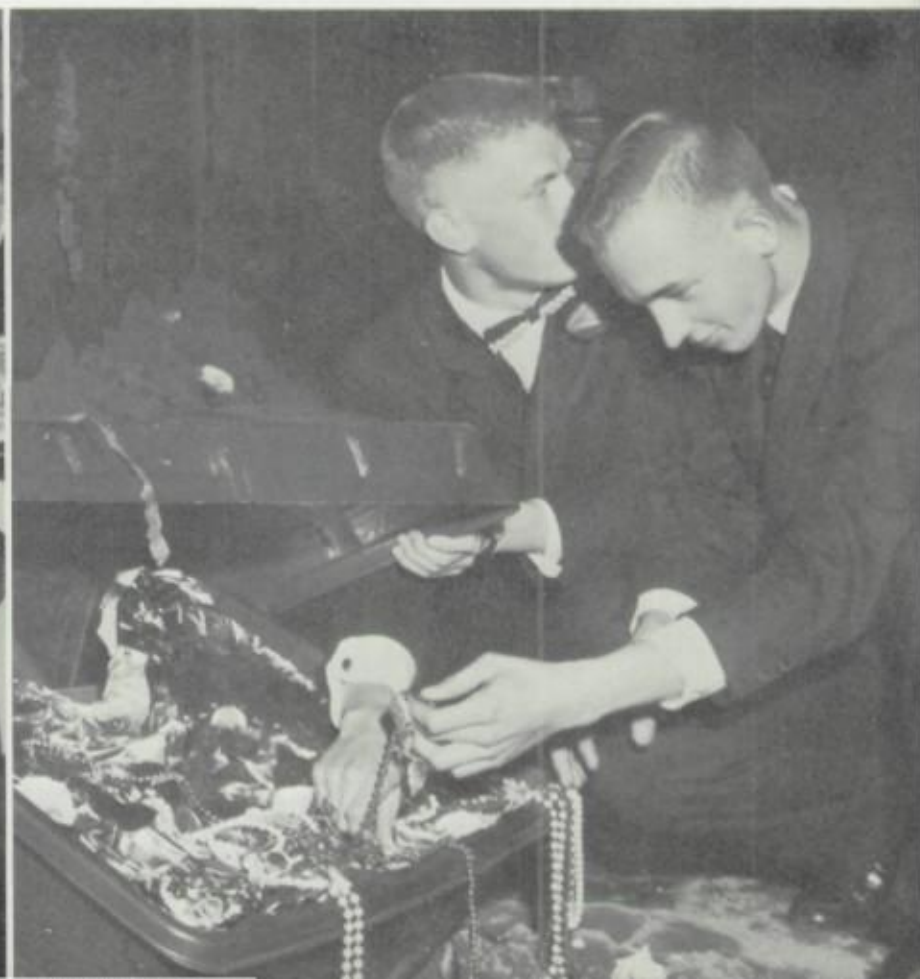

Burdena and Rich read the Juniors' prediction of the Seniors' future lives.

The Juniors were pleased with the wonderful banquet they had prepared.

The servers favored the guests with their humorous arrangement of "Anchors Aweigh."

Jack and Ivan were discovered trying to raid the hidden treasure chest.

The Seniors marched to the front of the church to begin the Baccalaureate Service.

Baccalaureate

Arlene Warmink favored the audience with a solo entitled "God is Love."

Rev. Reinsma addressed the graduates on "The Third Dimension."

Graduation

Cal, Sandi, Linda, and Rich usher the Seniors down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

The night of graduation arrived, the Seniors chose for their theme, "I Will Follow Thee."

Allen Likkel, class speaker, expressed the hopes and prayers of his fellow classmates as he spoke on the theme, "I Will Follow Thee."

Ivan reviewed the four-year history of the Senior class.

Diplomas were presented to the sixty-six graduates, rewarding them for their diligent studying.

The graduates prepared to receive their diplomas.
